A man walked into a restaurant and said quickly, "Do you serve crabs?" The waiter looked at him and replied, "Sure, we serve anyone. Sit down."

"Beg pardon, but aren't you one of those college boys?"

"No -- it's just that I couldn't find my suspenders this morning, my razor blades were used up, and a bus ran over my hat."

Salesman: "This model has a top speed of 150 miles per hour, and she'll stop on a dime."

Prospect: "What happens then?"

Salesman: "A little putty knife comes out and scrapes you off the windshield."

A little boy was trying to lead a large dog. "Where are you trying to take that big dog?" asked a passerby.

"I'm waiting to see where he wants to go and then I'll take him there," replied the boy.

"My wife," said Mr. Henpeck, "kisses me every time I come into the house."

"Ah," said his friend, "that's affection."

"No," sighed Henpeck, "that's investigation."

A motorist was 100 yards from an open level railroad crossing and was proceeding at 25 miles an hour; a train was approaching at 60 miles per hour and its distance from the crossing was 165 yards. Problem: Did the motorist get across? Solution: Yes, the motorist got a cross. His widow bought it out of the insurance money.

Being a bachelor has its drawbacks. By the time you've played the field, you're too old to make a pitch.

A newly inducted private wrote his family some few days after he arrived at camp:

"I've gained 60 pounds since I came here -- two pounds of flesh and 58 pounds of equipment."

"Mother, what was the name of the last station we stopped at?"

"I don't know. Be quiet. I'm working out this cross-word puzzle."

"It's a pity you don't know the name, Mother, because little Oscar got off the train there!"

"Henry, dear, we've been going together for eight years. Don't you think we ought to get married?"

"Yes, you're right, but who'll have us?"

Two friends met on the street as an ambulance clanged by. "Hear what happened?" asked one. "No, what?" "Accident at the circus. Tight rope walker was tight, rope wasn't."

"I like winter sports -- but this one got pretty fresh!"

Mother: "So you're not afraid to go to the hospital -- that's a good little boy."

Boy: "But I ain't gonna let 'em palm off a baby on me like they did you -- I want a puppy!"

Employer: "For this job we want a responsible man."

Applicant: "Then that's for me."

Everywhere I've worked, when something went wrong, they told me I was responsible.

The drunk staggered into the Automat and put two nickels into a slot. His mouth opened in astonishment when a piece of apple pie came out. Quickley he got a handful of nickels and began feeding the same slot. When the tenth piece came out the manager, who had been watching, said to him:

"Don't you think you'd better stop?"

"Don't be silly," said the drunk.

"Why should I quit when I'm winning?"

Boxer (to manager): "Do you think I hurt him at all in that last round?"

Manager (fed up): "I don't think so, but keep on swinging your arms and he might die of pneumonia from the breeze!"
